Nature Upgrading Urban Infrastructure

The natural environment is a major feature of Ora. including the lowland forests scattered across the rural districts, and Tataranuma Park which is visited

Preservation of farmland and forestland has become an issue due to the spread of urbanization in recent

In addition, as the society faces serious population decline, the longstanding urban planning assumptions of growth and expansion must be fundamentally changed.

As infrastructure is upgraded in the areas designated for urbanization, the town will also implement land use regulations and inducements aimed at enhancing the quality of life and attractiveness of our communities.

In urbanization control areas, while working to preserve and utilize the natural environment, the town will encourage community identity and pleasant living environments in existing settlements, and provide urban infrastructure designed for low maintenance

Toward the goal of enabling all residents to travel easily, we will build efficient traffic networks, including functional road improvements, traffic safety measures, and more convenient public transit. 田園地帯に点在する平地林や白鳥の飛来する多々良沼公園などの自然環境は、邑楽町の大き

As the needs of our residents continue to diversify, the enhancement of living environments requires measures in a number of areas including fire protection, emergency response, crime prevention and disaster mitigation, as well as consumer support and the delivery of advisory services.

Since the 2011 Great East Japan Earthquake, there is wider recognition of the importance of physical and social measures for preventing and mitigating disasters, including stronger earthquake resistance for buildings and other structures, making parks and other areas more functional as evacuation sites, and regular evacuation drills based on disaster scenarios

Enabling residents to live with peace of mind also requires advanced and expanded systems for fire protection, emergency response, and rescue, in order to increase survival rates. It is also necessary to establish crime prevention systems based on cooperation among residents, businesses and public agencies.

Environmental quality is another area requiring attention, including appropriate, ongoing steps to prevent air and water pollution and control noise, vibration and odors.

The town of Ora is establishing Administrative Districts as units for community activity, and they will play a major role in supporting resident self-governance and assuring smooth operation of public services.

There has been a decline in community spirit and solidarity in recent years, as family structures and personal value systems have diversified.

To support healthy community development, a variety of activities will be facilitated through the Administrative Districts, including the creation and publicizing of neighborhood events.

Toward the goal of fully recognizing the dignity of all persons, the town will foster a social environment that is comfortable for the growing number of foreign residents, promote gender equality, and create local systems for protecting and nurturing our youth.

Community development will be facilitated on the basis of the townspeople and the government remaining aware of their respective roles and duties, and working together.
